

The American Association for Medical Transcription (AAMT) is actively engaged in offering our professional expertise to address the impact of problem dictation as it relates to documentation errors and critical flaws affecting patient safety, the potential for sentinel events, the effects on turnaround time, and the resulting increased cost. The Dictation Best Practices Tool Kit is designed to assist facilities with the adoption and implementation of policies and training practices that will promote high quality dictation and ensure the best documentation outcomes.

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to MedQuist for generously sponsoring the production and distribution of the Dictation Best Practices Tool Kit. AAMT is proud to work with MedQuist toward improved practices in dictation.
